

Guide for the Preparation of Manuscripts

1. Paper to be used for contributions

- 1.1. Use A4 size white paper for the manuscript and pasteboards for figures, tables and photographs.
- 1.2. Use one side only.

2. Writing tools

Use a word processor for preparing manuscripts and captions.

3. Liaison person

Designate one person who is most suitable for liaison with the Editorial Committee.

4. Composition of manuscripts

- 4.1. Manuscripts should consist of a title sheet, an abstract, the text, a reference list, figures and tables, and a caption list of individual illustrations.
- 4.2. Photographs are classified in the same category as figures in a serial numbering.

5. Contents of the manuscript

5.1. Title sheet

- 5.1.1 State the type of manuscripts, title, the authors' names, and their present affiliations and addresses on this sheet.
- 5.1.2 Write a brief title which appropriately expresses the content. Words such as "observation on", "some" and "study" may be deleted by the editor. Capitalize the first letters of all words in the title except for prepositions, articles and conjunctions.
- 5.1.3 Write authors' names in the order of first name and surname.
- 5.1.4 When the present affiliations are not the same of those at the time the work was done, write the former ones in parentheses.

5.2. Abstract

Describe contents briefly and factually, not exceeding 200 words.

5.3. Text

- 5.3.1 Type manuscripts double-spaced with less than 25 lines on each page and less than 60 characters on each line. A printed page will be 4 pages of typed manuscripts.
- 5.3.2 Reserve a margin of more than 25mm on each side of the sheet.
- 5.3.3 Papers should not be of an advertising nature. Use generic names rather than trade names.
- 5.3.4 Use the following classification, in principle, for section, subsection, heading and subheading,

Section	: 1. 2. 3.
Subsection	: 1.1 1.2 1.3
Heading	: 1.1.1 1.1.2 1.1.3
Subheading	: (1) (2) (3)

- 5.3.5 Do not use abbreviations for uncommon technical terms.

- 5.3.6 Chemical names or chemical formulae can be used for expressing the names of elements, alloys and compounds.

- 5.3.7 Write mathematical expressions as:

$$\frac{a}{b}, \frac{(a+b)}{(c+d)}$$

in principle, but write simpler ones on a single line as $a/b, (a+b)/(c+d)$.

- 5.3.8 Define all mathematical symbols, subscripts and superscripts clearly.

- 5.3.9 Use the Christian Era for year numbers.

5.4. References

- 5.4.2 Write reference numbers in the text as superscripts with a closing parenthesis.
- 5.4.3 Use the abbreviations of cited literature according to Chemical Abstracts.
- 5.4.4 Refer to the following model for references.
 - 1) D.P. Hasselman, J. Am. Ceram. Soc., 46 [11] 535-541(1963).
 - 2) W.D. Kingery, Introduction to Ceramics, 100-108, John Wiley & Sons, Inc., New York/ London, (1960).
 - 3) S.Fukai, Japanese Patent Publication No.62-8654 (1987).
 - 4) Y. Ishida, H. Ichinose and S. Tanaka, Proc. of Int. Materials Symp. on Ceramic Microstructures '86: Role of Interfaces, 379-385, Berkeley, USA (1986.7).

5.5. Tables, figures and photographs.

- 5.5.1 Mount each table, figure and photograph on a pasteboard and number with Arabic numerals.
- 5.5.2 Write the representative author's name in a blank space of a pasteboard.
- 5.5.3 State the position of tables and figures to be inserted in the text in the right hand margin.
- 5.5.4 The printed size of 11cm×8cm in equivalent to 300 words.
- 5.5.5 Photographs must be in sharp contrast and have no damage such as dirt, scratches etc. as they will be used as they are.
- 5.5.6 A microphotograph should include a measurement reference rather than refer to amount of magnification.
- 5.5.7 Use a capital letter only for the first word of a caption.
- 5.5.8 Provide a succinct heading for each illustration which makes the information intelligible without reference to the text.
- 5.5.9 If figures, tables and photographs for publication are provided as digital files, the resolution should be higher than 300 dpi. Adobe PDF (.pdf) can be accepted at the submission.
- 5.5.10 Request for color print should be written in a margin of each page. The authors will be requested to pay for the added cost of printing in color.
